

Destroying Your Past to Protect Your Future

Located at 36 E. 10th Avenue in Oshkosh, Sadoff E-Recycling & Data Destruction is your local, certified resource for recycling everything electronic. In the digital world we live in, it is critical for businesses and individuals to understand the personal data security risk that is inherent with mismanaging end-of-life electronics. Sadoff E-Recycling provides qualified, secure and certified resources to our region to assist others with a desire to meet specific security and sustainability objectives. Electronics are illegal to dispose of in Wisconsin landfills and must be recycled properly – this is mainly due to the fact that many electronic items can contain hazardous materials like lead and mercury. Protecting our environment is necessary, but equally critical, is the need to protect our data. Electronics collecting dust in home and office closets does not address the security risk that exists. Proper disposal is critical to keeping ourselves and others properly protected.

Choosing a Recycler: Certification Matters

It is critical that you know who you are working with when it comes down to protecting your privacy. There are several organizations that accept electronics for collection, but they aren't certified electronics recyclers. There are two main international certification organizations for electronics recyclers, they are R2 (responsible recyclers) and E-Stewards. Both utilize a 3rd party auditing system to ensure that their certified recyclers maintain critical operational controls and ensure the security of their client's material throughout the collection, handling and recycling processes. When searching for the right fit partner – make sure that they are a certified electronics recycler. An easy way to search is to look on their website <https://sustainableelectronics.org/>
